

Delta removes college requirement for pilots

Posted on January 11, 2022 by News Editor

Delta Air Lines will no longer require prospective pilots to have a college degree, which is now a preferred qualification. The move “removes unintentional barriers to those seeking a pilot career at Delta, especially those that have gained an equivalency through other operational and leadership experience,” Delta said in a statement.

