

JetBlue relocates at San Diego airport

Posted on February 10, 2022 by News Editor

JetBlue and Allegiant will move to Terminal 2 at San Diego International Airport to allow construction to proceed on Terminal 1 — the single largest project in the airport’s history, replacing the 1960s-era terminal with a 30-gate state-of-the-art facility. The first 19 gates at the renovated terminal are scheduled to open in 2025.
