

NYC's removal of homeless from hotels draws fire

Posted on July 26, 2021 by News Editor

Protesters rallied on Fifth Avenue Sunday against New York City's transfer of homeless people to shelters from the dozens of hotels that have housed them during the pandemic. Critics say shelters are overcrowded and the coronavirus danger is far from past, especially with the onset of the Delta variant.

