

The double edge of facial recognition

Posted on November 30, 2021 by News Editor

Facial recognition technology is being adopted by more airports and airlines like Delta and JetBlue to streamline security and check-in. However, privacy experts are raising a red flag about the invasive nature of the data collection and whether it is safe from cyberattacks.

