

US airlines optimistic about industry rebound

Posted on October 22, 2021 by News Editor

US airlines expressed optimism about signs of industry recovery, citing an uptick in bookings. Ben Minicucci, CEO of Alaska Airlines, said “We’re all feeling the momentum and look forward to building on our strong foundation for growth,” and American Airlines leader Robert Isom noted that “We remain very bullish on the return of demand.”

